WAR IN THE CAMPS.

REPUBLICANS AND POPULISTS AT OOTS.

Dr. Moseley Declares the Republicans Will Never Again Support the Populists.

Day by day the Republicans and Populists in Alabama get a greater distance from each other politically. The Populists made a mistake in supporting the Republicans in November, and now the Republicans have commenced to attempt to force them to do the same thing again next year.

The following spat between Capt. Kolb's Tribune, and Bob Moseley's Times makes interesting reading matter:

Dr. Moseley interpreted a news item of the Tribune to convey a sentiment in which there was no harm. The Tribune expects to see the negroes of Alabama "organized" under the lead of a white man in the nature of things. Testimonies and habit prepared Dr. Moseley for the role of "organizer" in the premises. The initial of the movement was the news of the day, hence the note from these columns. Peoples Tribune, March 14th.

There it is; let all Republicans read it and remember, the Tribune is supposed to be the mouth-piece of Capt. R. F. Kolb. In two state elections the Republicans have supported him—his paper sees that hereafter the Republicans will not support him or anybody else who is not a Republican. Dr. Moseley believes in the principles of the Republican party, in the civil and political equality of all men; the Tribune does not. When the Republican party supported the JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRAT, Capt. R. F. Kolb—no such "flings" were made—but all was lovely and serene—but presto; when the Tribune sees that no longer will Republicans be led by the Populist string, it rises up and hollers out "negro in the wood pile," just like an organized Democratic paper.

The negroes are Republicans, and have almost to a man supported the Jeffersonian ticket in two state elections—but they will not do it any more, and hence the tumult in the editorial rooms of the Tribune (the local Populist paper). No more can Captain Kolb put up a state ticket, and get the support of the Republicans. Happily that day has passed. When 1896 rolls around, we hope to see a triangular fight for the state officers, and the Republican party, when the votes are counted will not be the hindmost—but where will the Tribune and its filipian following be? The Republican party helped Captain Kolb to be elected governor, failed out for want of courage, perhaps, those victories have proven as barren of fruitful results as Sahara desert is of vegetation.—Birmingham Times.

The Washington Post having come across one of the Birmingham Age-Herald's recent single standard editorials, in which our Birmingham contemporary held up Congressman R. H. Clark's speech last fall in which he compared the silver dollar of the United States and Mexico, as an object lesson against the free coinage of silver, makes an answer which is complete.

The Post says:

"We assume, of course, that Congressman Clark and his laureate in the Age-Herald know exactly what point they wish to make and can tell to their own satisfaction at least, to what the 'object lesson' alluded to refers. Meanwhile, however, unless the Mexicans are running Mexico to please foreign nations and not for their own happiness and welfare, there is nothing in the attitude of their silver dollar to which they have the slightest reason to object. The Mexican silver dollar will buy quite as much in Mexico as our silver dollar will buy here—a little more perhaps, and although the money lenders in Europe can manipulate that dollar into an inferior position so far as concerns transactions through the banks, it is nevertheless a fact that the Mexican dollar in unlimited demand in Asia, while ours will not be received on anything like so profitable terms. The Mexican dollar, therefore, is as good for all practical purposes at home as our dollar is, and for purposes of exportation, to meet a virtually unlimited demand in Asia, it is infinitely better."

"We haven't a doubt that Mr. Clark's argument was all that is claimed for it—sound, convincing, brilliant, and irrefutable—but what, exactly, was the point he made? He sought to make that Mexico should close her mines and mints and so cut off her chief source of wealth or that the United States should by doing as fine a dollar as that of Mexico, qualify herself for competition in one of the most remunerative markets of the world? We cannot quite make it out; and yet we are really very anxious to know."

It appears from recent advices received from the Orient, that China is not as anxious for peace as was at first supposed. Li Hung Chang, the peace envoy, is willing it seems to pay any amount of money that may be required, but he will not cede one bit of Chinese territory to Japan.

This statement would indicate that the rapid ravings of certain politicians on this side of the water, about "China knocking at the doors of European treasuries for money, and being refused, because she is a silver country," is all a myth. China either has the cash or she can get it in the event that Japan will accept her offer.

LI HUNG CHANG, the great Chinese statesman, who was sent to Japan some weeks ago to negotiate a treaty of peace, came near being assassinated last week.

While returning to his quarters in a carriage, a young Japanese rushed to his side and fired a revolver in his face. The ball entered the fleshy part of the face, but did not inflict a fatal wound. Japan will doubtless show to the world that she is not in sympathy with such a lawless deed, and will have the would-be murderer tried and executed at once. It will be both just and politic for her to pursue such a course.

Mrs. Cleveland has joined the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which has now declared for "woman's suffrage." In the event that Grover sees himself as the American people see him, before the next convention, he may try to keep the nomination in the family by having Mrs. C. to try for it. This being the case, we should like to know how she "stands" on silver.

Well, we were in school with these boys, and we remember them as—conscientious students. They studied political economy, but Wall Street did not dictate the text books.

Those of our citizens who see a cyclone of distress in the silver cloud that is arising, and who point to silver using countries as examples of silver's beneficial influence, might be profited by a study of the history of Japan. She has never been anything but a silver using country. One hundred years ago her ports were closed to all foreign influence, and the Japanese were a race of barbarians. How is it now? Step by step, she has forced her way to the front; and today challenges the admiration of the civilized world, for her marvelous achievements. Has her use of silver retarded her advancement? Has Japan knocked at the doors of European treasuries for loans and been denied? No. She has been able to borrow all the money she needs to prosecute the victorious struggle in which she is now engaged. Not only that, but she has gained the recognition of the great powers of the world, as a civilized, progressive nation.

May we not with justice use Japan as an illustration of the beneficial influence of the white metal; and do others rightly blame us, for demanding that silver be restored to the position it occupied up to the date of the murderous assault made upon it in 1873?

No. She has been able to borrow all the money she needs to prosecute the victorious struggle in which she is now engaged. Not only that, but she has gained the recognition of the great powers of the world, as a civilized, progressive nation.

May we not with justice use Japan as an illustration of the beneficial influence of the white metal; and do others rightly blame us, for demanding that silver be restored to the position it occupied up to the date of the murderous assault made upon it in 1873?

It appears from recent advices received from the Orient, that China is not as anxious for peace as was at first supposed. Li Hung Chang, the peace envoy, is willing it seems to pay any amount of money that may be required, but he will not cede one bit of Chinese territory to Japan.

This statement would indicate that the rapid ravings of certain politicians on this side of the water, about "China knocking at the doors of European treasuries for money, and being refused, because she is a silver country," is all a myth. China either has the cash or she can get it in the event that Japan will accept her offer.

THE REPUBLICAN.

Established in 1857, is the OFFICIAL JOURNAL of Calhoun county, one of the largest and wealthiest counties in Alabama, and in which are located the towns of Jacksonville,
Anniston, Oxford, Osanna
and Piedmont.

CIRCULATION.

It has a larger guaranteed
county circulation in Calhoun than any other paper.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The subscribers of the RE-PUBLICAN are the best people in the county—a class of people with whom it pays to advertise. Than it there is no better advertising medium in this section of Alabama.

THE REPUBLICAN.

A FATHER and his bright eleven-year-old boy were driving an old, weary, worn out, gray mule along a country road one day. Instead of a buggy whip the father carried a hickory about an inch wide, with which he frequently belabored the animal in his vain effort to get him to strike a trot.

vexed, because of his failure, he threw aside the whip as he remarked that he would give a dollar for something that the old mule could feel through his hide. These words sunk deep into the mind of the youthful American by his side and a resolution, then and there was formed to make the discovery
so much coveted by his father.

When they had reached home,
he filled up the arrows of his little blow-gun with needle points, and when dinner was over, climbed into the loft, above the old gray's stall, and let a few arrows fly. The result was charming. The animal was as active as a five year old.

He gambled around the stall with the agility of a colt, and at each successive arrow thrust knocked a plank or two from the side with his heels. The old gentleman rushed out in time to see him kick
one side of the stall down, jump a five foot fence and disappear in the woods lots, as Johnny came out with his blow gun and claimed the dollar.

Beg pardon, you ask the application of this story? Certainly.
The Montgomery Advertiser is the old gray mule. The papers of Alabama that don't see things her way, and who have taken the liberty to tell her so, are the father, and the Jacksonville Republican is the boy with the blow gun.

These papers had been slapping
her hind quarters for some time and could never get her to do any thing more than wag her tale and "flop" her ears, so last week we blew this at her:

The Montgomery Advertiser and
the Birmingham Age-Herald, wrapped in each other's arms, now slumber peacefully, and over their couch the golden god, whom both adore, keeps vigil. What strange bed-fellows politics sometimes makes!

To cut a long story short we will add that, we went through the skin, and the "old lady" is "snorting and kicking even to this day.

It was a grievous fault for Mr.
Johnston to assist in the organization of a silver league of the Democratic party according to our expressed opinions of auferious old friend in Montgomery. It was the formulation of dissonance, the stirring up of discord, the beginning of strife. When Hon. Hector
D. Lane, Commissioner of Agriculture, signs his name to a call for the organization of a similar league in North Alabama, she says that commissioner Lane explains the appearance of his name to the document by saying: "It being understood that the fight for silver coinage was to be made inside the party lines. It was with that understanding that my name was used." As soon as the Advertiser finds that Lane is a man of independence, and that she cannot dissuade him from these silver views, she will call him an emissary of the devil also. It's her way. She can't help it.

News reaches us that Harriet Becher Stowe, the woman who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the most overdrawn composition of a dozen centuries, is hopelessly insane. This book was read by hundreds of thousands before we war-red, and had more to do with moulding
a sentiment hostile to the south,
than all other agents combined.

At this date, when rumors of war are flying fast from continent to continent, and so much is being said about the Monroe Doctrine, it will not be out of place to reproduce that part of Mr. Monroe's message to congress, dated December 2, 1823, which defines the position of the United States, as regards European interference and extension on this hemisphere:

"We owe it, therefore to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and the allied powers, to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any part of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere, but with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it and whose independence we have on great consideration and just principles acknowledged, we could not view any interposition
for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unriendly disposition towards the United States."

The cause of the annunciation of this policy, was the proposed assistance of the allied powers—Prussia, Austria, and Russia—to Spain,
a number of whose American colonies were in revolt, and were struggling for independence.

The governments of Europe have hitherto respected this policy, and it is not to be expected that the United States will allow England, or any of the government of Continental Europe at this late date,
to violate it.

McKinley has now been south.
Recovered in health, and boun-ant in spirits over the visions that came to him of southern delegations wheeling into his columns at the next national convention, he has returned to his duties in Ohio.

But where is Tommy Reed? Surely his health is in need of a southern tour, and he must have a pretext for coming. Ah! We have it, and the mode of travel. Thomas,
you are growing very fat. Fat men get lazy, and are not as alert as slender ones. You must reduce your flesh. Buy a Columbia and start south the first of June.

Advertise your tour so that the sovereigns will know where to meet you. Take our word for it, Thomas, that when the people see the sweat coming from your brow, they will greet you as the wretched one from the health-giving South, with "All hail, Tom Reed, that shall be President!" McKinley will not be in it Thomas, and when you get back to New England, you will find your abdominal periphery, long the terror of Washington tailors, wonderfully contracted. The bicycle, Mr.
Reed, is the thing.

The following from The State is an object lesson which truly shows what the gold standard has done for the farmers of the south:

A good farmer was standing in front of the court house yesterday looking mournfully at his tax receipts. He said: "I brought a bale of cotton here five years ago, sold it for $40.50. With this money I paid my taxes, $22; got a dress for my wife, $5; shoes for the children, $6; a barrel of flour, $4.50; fifty pounds of sugar, $4; ten pounds of coffee, $2; and went home happy with $3.75 in my pocket for the preacher. I brought in a bale today, sold it for $22.50; paid my taxes, $22.25, and have a quarter left. They tell me I can get flour and frocks and sugar and shoes for half I paid them, but it 'pears to me I ain't got the half. I've about made up my mind to invest this quarter in United States bonds and howl for the gold standard.

The Cherokee Sentinel says
the motive which prompts Dr.
Mosely in taking a position which will "throw the fat in the fire," so far as the success of Populism is concerned, is a desire to hold down patronage in the event the Republican party gets into power.

Be this as it may, Dr. Mosely says the Republicans in Alabama will never again support a Populist ticket, and without the aid of the Republicans, the Populists will cut a small figure in Alabama politics.

Let no Democrat in Alabama
join another silver league than one composed entirely of Democrats.
Inside the organization of the party is the place to settle our differences. There is no question but there are enough men inside the party who favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver to secure a majority in both the next state convention and the next Legislature.
All that is necessary is an organized effort.

Mr. George W. Taylor,
Benjamin, Missouri.

Good Advice Quickly Followed

Cured of Rheumatism by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"I was taken down with rheumatism over a year ago. I was sick for over six months.
Often I would have such pains that I could hardly move. I tried many remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I then bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking one bottle, I felt much better,
and after taking two bottles, I was cured.
I have since taken one bottle every three months, and I have never been troubled again."

It has cured me
When the doctors could do me no good whatever. After being benefited so much from this medicine, I feel sure it will cure every one who is troubled with rheumatism and be without any harm.

Three minutes more, and my friend was in his apartment, and would be glad to see me. I lost no time in getting ready, and in a few minutes I was on my way. Sandhusen was a millionaire, and we had been schoolboys. Having plenty of leisure on his hands, he expressed his pleasure that I had come to him with such an interesting story.

"I'll go down with you and look at the stone," he said.

"I have brought it with me," and I opened the box and placed the gem in the palm of the astonished gentleman.

"I wonder if you are not imagining," he fondled it as if the simple touch gave him pleasure. He stepped to the window, in the glare of the sunlight and glanced at the gem.

"It surpasses anything I ever saw," he said, with flushed face, "and he asks only $50,000."

"That is all."

"It is genuine?"

"It is genuine. I have submitted it every test, and the fact is established."

"Brown, I'll buy it! I'll give you a check now."

"Hold on, Geoffrey," I protested.

"Don't be a hurry. Take time to consider the matter."

"But why should I take time?" he asked impatiently.

"Some one else is liable to see it. Have you offered it to any one?"

"No, I forget. I offered it to Mrs. Howard this afternoon."

"Who is Mrs. Howard?"

"That East Indian woman stopping at this hotel."

"I have seen her. She is rich enough to buy a dozen of them at that price."

"My friend, you are to think he had made a slip, and with this the faintest trace of confusion corrected himself:

"I should say from her dress, looks and manner that she was overburdened with wealth, but then one can't know. Why didn't she buy it?"

"She said she was too poor. I have offered it to no one else besides yourself and will not do so until you have made up your mind."

"I have made up my mind, confound it. That fellow may choose to use and take the thing away. The only way to prevent it is to close the bargain now, and that's what I will do."

"Well, it would seem that I am not the one to first give him the gem."

"Convinced that there is no other person in this thing. The man can give no reasonable pretext for passing Europe and bringing that ruby to this country to sell."

"Who told him to give a reasonable pretext? I am willing to take the chances. I'll pay you now."

"I said no more. He walked over to his desk, for his rooms were luckily furnished, drew out his check book, wrote me an order for $50,000, handed it to me and said:

"Now, old fellow, give me the quick pro quo."

"That's that mine," he added, with glowing face, "you it will be worth a fortune. From the supreme court to draw it from me."

"Where will you keep it?"

"I would let you have it until I moved into the house, but for fear that Mr. Howard may come back and change his mind. I may put it in the safe down stairs or take it to the bank or the trust company, but since no one besides yourself knows that I have it I will retain it in my room for a day or two, so as to have all the enjoyment with it I can."

"I took my head."

"That business. There's no saying who may know or suspect the truth. Remember that the man who put it in my hands and a certain woman stopping at this hotel bear the same name."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed my friend.

"There are 500 John Smiths in this city, and yet not a tenth of them are aware of the others' existence. Stamp a name on a piece of paper, and it signifies nothing."

"It was a waste of time to discuss the matter, and bidding my friend good-bye I went down town to my store."

Mr. Darius C. Howard was there. He was the same well-dressed and genteel as before, and as smiling and suave in his manner.

"I thought I would not wait until as long as I intended," he exclaimed, "and here you are."

"What next?"

"When ready for bed, I put it back in the small pocket and had it brought up to my room. I would take it down to the bank with a lot of other things, the bank being a peculiar one which I have never seen any one else use. I stepped into the bank and found it empty. I took out the little box, unlocked the string, which was precisely as I had left it, opened the box, and it was empty."

"I have been in my room and looked with a violent eye, and I ask you what I have done?"

CONSUMPTION

By the Physicians
SEVERE COUGH
At Night
Spitting Blood
Given Over by the Doctors!
LIFE SAVED BY
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I bought her Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt. - R. Morris, Memphis, Tenn.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1895.

VOLUME 59.

COUNTY NEWS.

FROM ALL SECTIONS OF CALHOUN.

GATHERED BY THE REPUBLICAN'S ABLE CORPS OF CORRESPONDENTS.

Ninety per cent of Anniston with the REPUBLICAN on Silver—Oxford Elects Marshal After Many Bal-lots—Fire at White Plains—

DeArmanville and Oxford Favor Stock Law—Choccolocco Opposed to Removal of the Court House—Rock Crusher at work at Weavers.

ANNISTON.

Work continues on the Noble Street electric car line, and it is expected that it will be completed and in operation by the 10th of May, if not sooner. Property along this line has already increased in value, and is considered the best in the city for investments.

The city council elected the following officers for next year: Gen. G. T. Anderson, clerk; P. B. Brown, Treasurer; A. P. McGhee, City Attorney; J. M. Pralier, Chief of Police; James Tyson, Keeper of Prison. Messrs. McGhee and Tyson are the only new officers. All of them are good men.

Hon. A. F. McGhee, as representative of the Anniston lodge, attended the grand lodge meeting of the Knights of Honor at Montgomery this week.

The revival meetings at the first Presbyterian church continue to grow in interest, and much good is being accomplished in the name of the Master.

A great majority of our people are rejoicing over the moving of the postoffice to the corner of Noble and Eleventh streets. Before the change, it was almost out of town.

It is thought that the building of the new electric car line, will increase the rental value of property on Noble street, south of Tenth.

With the proper effort, our land companies could do great things for Anniston within the next twelve months. It remains to be seen if they will rise to the demands of the occasion.

A vast majority of our people are with the REPUBLICAN in its fight for restoration of silver to its old-time position as money. At least 90 per cent. of them are against the single gold standard.

But little is being said here about court house removal. Of course, Anniston is solidly in favor of it. It is reported that the Anniston City Land Company building, which cost $50,000, will be donated to the county for a court house. This is an excellent building and would make an elegant temple of justice for grand old Calhoun.

TREDEGAR.

Mrs. H. P. Munger has been very sick for the past week, but is much better now.

The Ababaster lime works will soon be burning one hundred barrels of lime per day. Wood is a hustler.

Misses Mamie Ward and Mary Monahan are visiting the Misses Nisbet.

C. J. Wood and A. Roebuck went over to Rock Springs Tuesday.

Cotton will not reign king this year in Tredegar. Our farmers will raise more corn, peas, syrup and potatoes.

C. J. Munger had some hogs to die with a very strange disease. They would jump up, squeal and fall dead. On cutting one open, it was discovered that a knot of worms was in its throat, which is supposed to be the cause of death.

Brooks Cole and family visited Thos. Kimbrell last week.

A Sunday school was organized last Sunday at Friendship church. There will be an all day singing at Mount Olive the fourth Sunday in April.

The people appreciate the county news given in the REPUBLICAN. Jacksonville business continues to improve, and her merchants continue to buy and sell goods cheaper than ever before.

Miss Hannah Crook returned to Jacksonville on Friday of last week.

ALEXANDRIA.

The gypsies are returning northward—a sure sign that Spring is here.

Mrs. K. S. Woodruff has returned from a week's visit to Black Creek falls.

Mrs. Charles Loyd, who died at her home on Cane Creek last Wednesday, was buried at Mt. Zion Thursday. She was one of Mt. Zion's oldest and faithful members.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Crook, of Anniston, spent Sunday in Alexandria.

Messrs. Bowling and Woodruff are putting up a shop for doing all kinds of wood and iron work.

On Saturday before the fourth Sunday, the graveyard at Mt. Zion will be put in order, and Rev. Geo. D. Harris will preach in the afternoon.

Easter services will be held at the Methodist church on Sunday, the 14th.

DE ARMANVILLE.

About thirty bales of cotton passed here this morning on the way to market, the result of the recent rise in prices.

The wild clover which was thought to be killed by the cold of last spring is coming out again, much to the delight of the cattle. This grass as many remember, was never seen in this country, till after the war. It has proved such a blessing that a Mississippi agricultural journal said of it, "the same providence that freed the negro, sent us Jespedez."

The farmers last week, got a move on themselves, and as a result much of their corn is planted and a great deal of their cotton land is bedded for planting.

Will Hewett, after much suffering, died last Wednesday, and was buried at Harmony Church, Thursday. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents.

It is thought that this and Oxford beat will pass the stock law without much opposition.

CHOCOLOCCO.

Farmers are nearly ready to plant cotton. Some upland has been planted in corn.

Mrs. Graham is making considerable improvements on her residence.

Mr. John Hughes has built a good bridge over the branch near town. As the stock law is in force nearly all the vacant lots are being cultivated.

Mrs. Morris has been sick but is better now.

Dr. Hughes had a call to Childersburg last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. McCullough, a girl to Green Edwards, a boy.

Mr. Ed. Caldwell was in town last week.

Mrs. Gavin, of Edwardsville, is visiting her father, Mr. W. M. Hughes.

Miss Thompson, of Iron City, is visiting Miss Mary Hughes.

Miss Laura Weaver, of Weavers, is visiting Mrs. A. B. Scarbrough.

Mrs. N. P. Scarbrough, of White Plains, is visiting the children at this place.

Miss Jessie Davis' music class gave a concert last week.

Some of our people claim that the North that killed Lincoln is still living, and that they know him.

Mr. Rowland, the deputy sheriff, was around summoning the witnesses and jurors for the circuit court.

The court house excitement has quieted somewhat. We think the majority of white voters in this beat are opposed to moving it.

The people of this valley would like to have Col. Crook write an article on Enslavement for your valuable paper. We want to know how to construct the silo, how to put the corn, and whether it will pay us to build.

WEAVERS.

The cold wind of the last few days causes seed to germinate very slowly.

A great many of the peach blooms have no fruit in them and are falling off. This was probably caused by the recent frost.

Our county commissioners visited the town on Tuesday to inspect the work of the new rock crusher which was placed here last Monday. The crusher will work a few days longer here and then will move to another beat.

Mrs. G. H. Reeves was hurt, but not seriously, by a fall from a buggy last week.

Mrs. J. R. McElreath is now able to walk with crutches.

Elmore Garrett, of Anniston, was in the city last week looking after the location of beat lines.

Mr. R. G. McGee, one of our oldest and best citizens, is suffering from a sore on his face.

The health of our community is good.

Bro. Horton filled his appointment here last Sunday.

WHITE PLAINS.

Another fire in our village last Tuesday night. Mr. William Lagley's house was burned. It was supposed to have caught from the stove flue. He saved most of his furniture. No insurance.

Miss Cassie Little has returned from an extended visit to friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. E. G. Watson, of Birmingham, on a visit to her parents here.

J. U. Whitely has returned from Atlanta with his sheepskin, and will hang out his shingle in this city.

Mr. W. C. Whitehead will soon complete his elegant new house.

CANE CREEK.

Spring has come at last. The birds are singing, bees humming, snakes have crawled out, the lizards sun themselves, the dogwood is white, and we begin to dig bait for fishing when some one says, "old man you had better get in that garden now."

In the winter its get some wood and make a fire, start the fire in stove. Now its the garden and shoe haw! "So there is no rest for a man when the mistress stirs him around like mine and Sam Shins do."

Our road overseer placed his 200 pounds on a lever to prize up a stump in the road. The stump turned loose suddenly, and he sat down rather quick. Fell four or five feet, and Jerusalem! what a thump. He now limps around and cusses stumps.

It is charged against Hon. W. C. Scarbrough here that he was an active worker for the removal bill. The writer denies it, but for the satisfaction of others we would like to see it denied through the REPUBLICAN by Mr. Scarbrough.

MERRELLTON.

Mrs. H. B. Glover has been very sick but is better now.

Oliver Ford, of McFall, was visiting Merrellton the latter part of last week.

F. M. Greenwood, of Piedmont, was visiting friends in this vicinity last Monday.

Miss Luanita Mullins attended the teachers institute at Jacksonville last Friday and Saturday. She will teach again at Piedmont Springs church this summer.

Her patrons are very much pleased with her as a teacher.

Service at Salem church last Sabbath by the pastor; at which service H. B. Glover was ordained elder, and M. P. Weaver, deacon.

JENKINS.

The weather has been fine for sometime. The wind blows cold enough to come from snow today.

There are some cases of measles in our vicinity. Rev. S. L. Cross has had them in the last ten days, but is convalescing. There are a good many people trying to keep away from them, especially some of the old people who have not had them.

Mrs. Gay, who has been sick since last fall, is no better. She is quite an old lady.

In a few more weeks our mountain scenery will be grand, as the trees and shrubbery are fast putting on their dresses of green.

Some gardens are beginning to look pretty, but Jack Frost may get the tender vegetables to night.

Rev. F. M. Treadaway and wife are on a visit to relatives in Gadsden.

OXFORD.

"Burglars entered" Constantine's store Saturday night by breaking the glass in the front window. Only ten or fifteen dollars worth of goods, and no money, was stolen.

On the night of the installation of the new mayor and council, an effort was made to elect a marshal, but after about 80 ballots the meeting adjourned to a call meeting Saturday night, when J. S. Bartley was elected marshal for the ensuing year.

E. G. Roberson, our clever cotton buyer and exmerchant, has opened a ladies store in the Cooper building.

Dr. Fred W. Buckalew is standing an examination, for a certificate to practice medicine, in Oxford, this week.

M. W. McGraw, an ex-Oxfordite, but now a spool-thread drummer, is in Oxford for a few days, as a witness in the P. K. Thompson lawsuit.

Oxford Lake Line is sodding and beautifying the lake grounds and if the people of the county want an outing or a picnic they should be sure and come to Oxford Lake, for it is the prettiest place in the county.

BERA.

J. E. Canada visited his son at Eastaboga, on Sunday.

A. J. Boswell, of East Egypt, has a little five year old girl sick with paralysis.

Mr. Y. C. Southers is no better.

Prof. Stovall returned from the institute and resumed school at New Bethel, on Monday.

It is another boy that makes J. B. Milner wear that broad smile.

Mrs. J. P. Miller visited her father, in Etowah county, Saturday.

Esq. E. M. Read, of McCallville, was in our town last week, on official business.

The boys had better be careful how they set fire in passing or their names will go before the City Court grand jury.

Mrs. J. A. Defreese was the guest last Sunday, of Mrs. E. J. Hagline.

RUSSER.

The health of our community is very good. We had a delightful rain on Friday night and every body is feeling better for it. Some of our farmers are beginning to talk of planting cotton next week.

Our school closed on last Friday, and our people were greatly pleased with an exhibition made by our boys and girls. We have one of the best schools in the county and the best teacher. The daily attendance at the school has been over forty-five during the last five months.

Call For a State Dairy Convention.

Every county in Alabama is asked to send delegates to a meeting, which will be held in the city of Montgomery on Sunday, May 1, 1895, at 9:00 a. m. in the City Hall building.

The object of which will be to encourage and build up dairy industry of our state.

Let every dairyman in Alabama be present and all papers friendly to the proposed organization will please copy. (Signed.)

Isaac Ross, Opelika, James Crook, Jacksonville, F. H. Bates, Hamburg, W. E. Mathews, Huntsville, W. C. Thomas, Gold Hill, M. C. Scott, Montgomery, H. M. McIntyre, LeGrand.

Petitions are being circulated for and against letting hogs run at large in Jacksonville. This is a problem with which the new council will have to wrestle. The light is on. Where do you stand? Are you for or against the hog law? We are not for or against the fence, so far as is the REPUBLICAN concerned.

The Jacksonville section of the Woodstock Guards, held a meeting on Monday evening and elected officers. Jacob Forney was re-elected Lieutenant; E. Mae Lane, Sergeant; W. H. Clark, Corporal; C. J. Woodruff, Corporal; Forney Williams, Quarter Master Sergeant; William Wilkerson was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

Remedy's Nerve and Bone Pain Rheumatism, Cuts, Sores, Burns and Bruises, For 25c.

The Conundrum Tea.

The kindness of the "Bachelor Girls" in giving the "Conundrum Tea" for the benefit of the fire company, on next Tuesday evening at the Academy, deserves the commendation of all our people. The company is in need of additional hose, and the people of our town should seize this opportunity to aid them in procuring it. No one who attends will be anything but pleased. A look at the menu will convince you that such a combination of delicacies was never before placed before Jacksonville's Epicureans. The most remarkable feature of all is the very low cost at which the items are furnished. Only think of it; you pay only 10c for a "A Souvenir of Constantine," 5c for Tree Cake, "Epicurean Cake," England's Stumbling Block," "Fowl Reminder" etc. "A Descendant of Noah" will cost you only 5c, and you can eat him right there, or take him home with you as a reminder of the ark. Some of our husbands should see to it that their wives try "Something Unforgettable." It may enable those dames to see themselves as others see them, and lead them to fully understand the feelings of their husbands on certain occasions. Those of our citizens who like to witness the phenomenon of two moons where there should be but one, must be sure and take a sip of "Frischmann's Delight."

"Prepared Dishes" is an item with a title very suggestive of a Parisian Cafe. The name does not half indicate its delicious qualities. As a morsel to be eaten just before retiring at night, there is absolutely nothing so helpful to a quiet nervous state, and so conducive to peaceful slumber. Really, for this purpose they far exceed boiled cabbage or cold Irish stew. Only five cents. To the young men, and to the married ones who do not fear, we suggest a few "St. Louis Girls" and a bite or two of Brundt's Complexion.

Music will form a pleasant feature of the entertainment. Let every body attend.

The Rock Crusher.

To our mind, one of the very best investments the present board of county commissioners has made during its term of office, is the purchase of the rock crusher, now in operation at Weavers Station.

It consists of a ten horse engine, twelve horse boiler, and the latest improved crusher.

The machinery is mounted on two separate wheels, so that it can be easily carried from place to place.

It will crush ten tons of rock per hour, and in macadamizing the roads of the county, will be a great saving over having the work done by hand.

The entire outfit cost one thousand dollars; which amount, together with all the cost of operating it, will be paid out of the road fund.

It will take no money out of the common fund of the treasury, and cannot therefore help to increase the tax rate, as some have suggested.

The road beds in the county are now in good condition, and the wise and most practical thing to do is to macadamize them,—spend money so as to improve permanently.—Put work on them that will not be washed away by every rain that comes.

In doing this work, it will be thoroughly demonstrated that the new crusher will save both time and money to the county.

After crushing the necessary rock at Weavers, the crusher will be moved to some other point in the county.

Easily Cured.

Drunkennes, Morphine and Tobacco habit are easily cured by the use of F. H. B. Chloride of Gold Tablets. No effort required of the patient who is allowed the use of stimulants until he voluntarily quits their use. May be given secretly in tea or coffee and a cure guaranteed in every case. For sale by all first-class druggists at $1.00 per package. For full particulars and book of testimonials address: The Ohio Chemical Works, Lima, Ohio.

John T. A. Hughes Appointed.

The commissioners court last Thursday appointed John T. A. Hughes, of Piedmont, on the board of Equalization of taxes for Calhoun county.

The board now consists of Tax Assessor McClellan, O. S. Crook and J. T. A. Hughes.

AN ANNISTON MAN.

TALKS SENSIBLY ON THE COURT HOUSE QUESTION.

Says Anniston Has all the Court House needs, and to move the Court House would be a species of robbery.

It is really refreshing to talk with an Anniston man on the question of removal of the court house who lives outside the corporate limits of the city of Anniston.

As the Anniston gentlemen who had the bill passed authorizing a vote on the removal of the court house so disregarded the rights of the people outside the corporate limits of Anniston as to place it utterly out of the power of every other voter in the county to have the election called, but must bow to the dictation and await their pleasure, it may be supposed that all Anniston is in sympathy with this wholly movement.

But such is not the case. Every few days we meet an 'Annistonian' who is opposed to removal.

Among this number we had the pleasure a few days since of meeting Capt. James Savage, of Anniston.

In conversation with Capt. Savage he stated that he was uncompromisingly opposed to a removal of the court house. That Anniston now had all the courts she needed, and to tear down Jacksonville, depreciate the value of property bought by people here since the location of the court house, would be nothing less than a species of robbery.

As to the extension of the Anniston City Court, he said there was no earthly necessity of increasing its jurisdiction, and that any farmer in Calhoun county who did not want to be sued every thirty days was very foolish to favor its increased jurisdiction.

This is sensible talk, and it affords as pleasure to thus put a prominent Annistonian on record as being in line with the people of the county.

Minutes of the Teachers Institute.

The teachers institute of Calhoun County, convened at Jacksonville Friday, and Saturday, the 5th and 6th of April. The attendance was larger than it has been at any institute, for quite awhile. The number of teachers enrolled was 52. The teachers manifested great interest in the work, and as a whole they are energetic, and conscientious; evincing at all times a marked desire for something high and noble. I think that Calhoun county can truly boast of her body of teachers.

The institute was called to order by Sup't. L. D. Miller. Prayer was offered by Rev. G. H. Smith, then the welcome address by Prof. Jacob Forney—Prof. Daugette being absent. The first thing in order was the election of a secretary, and upon motion, W. D. Snow, of DeArmanville, was elected. The discussions throughout the entire session were, indeed, interesting and instructive. Among the number of teachers present we rejoiced to see Rev. G. H. Smith—the Principal of the District High School at White Plains. This is the first institute Mr. Smith has attended in Calhoun and the generous teachers heartily welcome him into their association.

At 8 o'clock p. m. the citizens of the town as well as the teachers, had the pleasure of enjoying an able and instructive address from our ex-Supt. of Education, Hon. J. G. Harris, of Montgomery.

This is not the first visit Mr. Harris has paid Jacksonville, and the people, as well as the teachers, always appreciate his presence, and most especially the interest he manifests in the cause of education.

And while Mr. Harris does not occupy the position as Supt. of Education, yet he occupies one of the warmest places in the hearts of the teachers of Calhoun County and of the good people of Jacksonville.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the teachers institute of Calhoun County do most cordially request that the commissioners court, to have the course house furnished with a book case, in which sample copies of all school books, which may be donated to the county by the Publishers, can be kept for examination by the teachers. W. D. Snow, Sec'y.

Wallace Watkins was in to see us on Wednesday last, and presented the REPUBLICAN as with an old friend. Mr. Watkins is a man of peace. Mr. Watkins placed this up in his field about two years ago.

It is not out of a piece of cotton or a bundle of green cotton, which is very heavy. The pipe will hold half a barrel of tobacco.

Mr. Watkins thinks it would be a good idea if the third party (and the Democrats in old Calhoun) should have a good school building, and a good teacher, and a good principal, and a good superintendent, and a good board of trustees, and a good board of directors, and a good board of managers, and a good board of overseers, and a good board of stewards, and a good board of deacons, and a good board of elders, and a good board of ministers, and a good board of pastors, and a good board of evangelists, and a good board of missionaries, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of workers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board of servants, and a good board of slaves, and a good board of serfs, and a good board of vassals, and a good board of tenants, and a good board of peasants, and a good board of farmers, and a good board of laborers, and a good board

Established in 1897, is the OFFICIAL JOURNAL of Calhoun,
one of the largest and wealthiest counties in Alabama, and in which are located the towns of Jacksonville,
Anniston, Oxford, Oxnarda
and Piedmont.

CIRCULATION.

It has a larger guaranteed
county circulation in Calhoun than any other paper.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The subscribers of the RE-PUBLICAN are the best people in the county—a class of
people with whom it pays to advertise. Then it there is no better advertising medium
in this section of Alabama.

THE REPUBLICAN.

Stand by the Democratic Ship.

Hon. Robert Mosely, the recognized leader of the republican party in Alabama, and editor in chief of the party organ at Birmingham, after having very ably used the populist party for the accomplishment of his unholy purpose, to wit, to create a division among the white men of Alabama, and a consequent disruption of the democratic party, which has always been a firm and impassable barrier to republican supremacy, in his base ingratitude for services rendered, not only declares the incongruous fusion dissolved but unmasking his party batteries turns all of his guns upon his quondam popu-larite friends and pitilessly inaugurates a conflict which he boldly and defiantly intimates is enduring and irrepressible.

We are not surprised at this political metamorphosis of the wily Robert, for in politics he can justly claim prominence in the "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," but to the dispassionate observer
it might have seemed a little more decent and respectable had he made the dissolution of the fusion more gradual, or assigned better reasons for withdrawing from it. We are only surprised that our populist friends, with the full knowledge and better experience of the perfidy of the republican party through long years of misrule and popular oppression would suffer themselves to be so overreached by the insincere and deceptive blandishments of the avowed enemy of southern progress and prosperity, as to be invited into an alliance with a party which has criminally used the masses for the aggrandizement of the classes, and the centralization of power in the federal government, to the great peril of popular sovereignty and civil liberty.

The populist party claims to be essentially democratic in principle,
and with such political faith,
and preaching such political doctrine
as attaches only to democracy, it requires no prophetic sagacity to foresee the early and final divorce-ment of the populist from the republican party. When oil and water amalgamate into an homogeneous compound, we may expect to see the principles of the democratic and republican parties coalesce.

Nine tenths of the populist party in Alabama have been reared in the nurture and admonition of democracy, and taught to regard a departure from party principles as contemptible political apostasy and inconsistent with loyalty to the spirit of our institutions and the genius of our government. At the risk of being charged with party treason we believe—and believing assert—that the democrats who have in the past fought the battles of the party and aided in the achievements of her victories,
but who in honestly seeking a city of refuge from the oppressions of republican class legislation have wandered from the democratic fold would to day have been in hearty and active affiliation with the party,
but for the intolerable, dogmatic and proscriptionist spirit of those who arrogantly claim to control the party machinery, and in their exclusive organization even now assume the roll of prescribing the party
"shibboleth" and reading out of the party
those who plant themselves upon the principles of democracy as pre-mulated in 1892 by the democratic convention at Chicago, interpreted by our state democratic executive committee, and proclaimed by democratic speakers from every stump in the state. This is carrying the joke a little too far and will work in the organization into disunity and leagues, of that large majority of consistent and conscientious democrats who decline to bow down and give exclusive worship to the golden ideal of monometalism.

Those of our brethren who have gone astray, believe that the door of their fathers house has been barred against them, by usurping pseudo statesmen, while the janitors that keep vigil at the threshold have hardly doffed their political swaddling clothes and are sitting to be regarded as democratic babes and sucklings, ignorant both of the principles and traditions of the party. With the voting power to control and reform the party,
we say in all kindness and sincerity
our populist friends have committed the error of surrendering the party rights, bequeathed to them unimpaired, through a long line of loyal ancestry, and of seeking relief through a new and untried party organization which must necessarily be ephemeral and short-lived, and in the support of which,
they will only postpone the relief
which they could speedily secure by coming back to the party of their forefathers, and adding in the election to office of only those who are the undoubted exponents of democratic faith and practice. By adhering to the populist party they are, though unintentionally, conserving the supremacy of the republican party, giving to it an unbroken lease of power and possioning the deliverance of the people from the poverty and oppression born of republican class legislation. "One swallow does not make a summer," nor does one man, or set of men, constitute the democratic party, which is only made up of that mighty host which no man can number, who are immovable in their adhesion to, and assertion of, democratic principles.

If the old democratic ship, which is now being tossed upon the rough and tumultuous sea of party dissension and factionalism has been rendered a little unseaworthy, let us not abandon her, in this her extremity, but remembering that she is still freighted with the destinies of sixty eight millions of American freemen, let us come together in the spirit of fraternity and patriotism, repair her defects, fling to the breeze from the mast head our party flag, bearing the inscription—
"equal rights to all, equal privileges to none, and inspired by the justice of our cause, we will ride triumphantly all waves of opposition, anchor safely within that haven guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, and still be a united and triumphant democracy.

There are those in Alabama
who are strong believers in party organization, and who are willing to accept the interpretations of the State Democratic Executive Committee on everything except silver.
During the last presidential election the State Democratic Executive Committee issued an address to the people of Alabama, and after stating that in the last congress the Democrats succeeded in passing in the Senate a bill providing for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and that it was defeated in house of representatives by the Republican party, then in power in the lower house, said:

"The record shows beyond dispute that the Democratic party has been and is now the friend of silver,
and we will never have the coinage of silver the same as that of gold in this country until the Democratic party gets entire control of the government; when we have one or two branches of the government, are blocked by the Republicans in the other branch, so that it has been impossible for the Democratic party up to this time to carry out its promises with reference to the coinage of silver."

These are words from the highest authority in the Democratic party of Alabama. They clearly state what the Democratic party has ever stood on silver, and what it was then pledged to do.

The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 was the law from 1792 to 1893, when it was demonetized by the Republican party. The Democrats then fought for free and unlimited coinage of silver.

It is of recent date that any considerable number of Democrats should turn their backs upon the traditions of the Democratic party and favor the gold standard.

The line has for years been drawn.
The Republicans have been the enemies of silver, the Democrats its friends.

The friends of Hon R. B. Kelly claim that Gov. Oates did him an injustice in making the appointment of circuit judge before he had received the endorsement of Mr.
Kelly. Hon John M. Caldwell and Mr. M. B. Wellborn, of Anniston, had started to Montgomery in the interest of Mr Kelly the day the appointment was made.

Little May Bentley

Born a Genius

Disease Threatens to Cut Short a Noble Career

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Restores
Good Health.

Little May Bentley is an accomplished eloquent natural born speaker of only 12 years of age. She is the only child of a prominent lawyer before the public. Her genius, however, did not exempt her from an attack of a disease of the blood. Her own words tell the story:
"I have been ill for many months, and I have been unable to do anything but lie in bed. I was compelled to leave school upon the doctor's advice. I thought it was due to being too young to do so, but it was not."

Continued to Grow Worse.

I was persuaded finally by a friend to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The use of one bottle cured me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Acid Stomach and Indigestion.

After the use of three bottles the gathering clouds and I am cured of my former trouble. I am now able to do all my school work, and I am a healthy, happy child. I am now able to do all my school work, and I am a healthy, happy child. I am now able to do all my school work, and I am a healthy, happy child. I am now able to do all my school work, and I am a healthy, happy child. I am now able to do all my school work, and I am a healthy, happy child.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectually, on the liver and bowels.

The Advertiser's Inconsistency

The people of the south generally favor free coinage of silver, and do not share the apprehension of those who believe that it will lead to financial disturbances and distress.

The Advertiser is in favor of free coinage.

Thus spoke the Montgomery Advertiser on the morning of April 1, 1891.

On the morning of Feb. 13, 1891, the Advertiser said:

We regret that Mr. Cleveland is not in line with the great bulk of his party on the silver question.

Again, on the morning of March 7, 1891, that paper said:

We have said more than once we did not agree with those who dreaded the addition of a larger volume of silver to our currency.

We should be glad to see the silver free coinage bill become a law.

Upon the morning of August 15, 1891, she further said:

The position of the democratic party in recent years in favor of restoring silver to circulation, and its efforts to accomplish this are well known, and the Advertiser stands strongly committed to aid in this work.

Now, upon Friday morning, April 3, 1895, this same Montgomery Advertiser said:

"The people are studying the financial question as never before in their lives. The more they study it, the more they see that free coinage of silver will benefit no one except the Colorado millionaires, who are just as much gold-bugs as anybody in Wall street."

It is well known to our readers that the REPUBLICAN has, under its present management, held that the Montgomery Advertiser was a publication unfit to occupy the position in Alabama journalism which she has occupied. This paper has been frank enough to say so, and the Advertiser has not relished its expression of this opinion. It was not the aim of the REPUBLICAN to wound any feelings, or to place the Advertiser in an invidious light before its friends and readers. It simply desired to show to the people that there was an utter want and absence of consistency in the editorial columns of the Advertiser, as well as a spirit of doggedness and obduracy, which would prevent its being a safe advisor for the people, or a worthy leader. As has been said, the expression of such an opinion in the columns of this paper, seemed to very much incense the Advertiser, and it has devoted a half column, or more to comments on the REPUBLICAN, and has been so unkind as to insert several naughty little insinuations. The REPUBLICAN is by no means surprised for it has studied the paper referred to, and thinks it thoroughly understands the motive that prompts its every action.

But we are digressing. We have copied the above extracts from the Advertiser, because we wished our readers to know that the accusation of inconsistency was not a false one, but that it was founded upon, and illustrated by, the editorial statements of that paper. In 1891 the Advertiser recognized the fact that the people of the south the very backbone of democracy, thank God,—favored the free coinage of silver; it regretted that Mr. Cleveland was not in line with the bulk of the party; it said more than once that it was not in line with those who dreaded the addition of a larger volume of silver to our currency; it was in favor of free coinage, would be glad to see the silver free coinage bill become a law, and stood strongly committed to the work.

But to day, the Advertiser, by some strange metamorphosis, common, very common, to herself, announces that the people are studying the financial situation, and that therefore they study it, the more they see that free coinage will benefit no one, except the millionaires of Colorado. Yet the Advertiser, but a short time ago, favored free coinage, and was "strongly committed" to it.

There is a reason for the sudden "flip" which the Advertiser made on this greatest of all questions.

We shall not, however, ask for it, because the paper has shown conclusively that it will not tell it.

We hold that its action in this matter is one characteristic of the paper, and leads to the conclusion that the Advertiser is both inconsistent and an unsafe adviser.

The decision by the United States supreme court on the income tax was a great surprise to the people of this country. Able lawyers had a hand in framing the bill and had declared it constitutional. The decision of the court declares that portion of the bill which places a tax on incomes derived from rents and municipal bonds is unconstitutional, and therefore void. The court doubtless knows the law, and is correct in its decision, but it will be many a day before the people will be able to see the justice in it.

Scrofula Cured—Blood Purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"It is with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is afflicted with Scrofula, has been cured since she was one year old. For five years she had running sores on one side of her face. We tried every remedy recommended, but nothing did her any good. She was so afflicted that she could not go to school. She was married and advised to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it cured her mother. She has been cured since she was one year old."

as a trace of the dreadful disease. Previous to taking the medicine her complexion was affected with a yellowish tinge, and she was so afflicted that she could not go to school. She was married and advised to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it cured her mother. She has been cured since she was one year old."

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, skin diseases, blood impurities, etc. Sold by all druggists.

THE EYES MAKE THE LIGHT UNBEARABLE PERMANENTLY CURED BY USING
Ayer's Pills

My husband was subject to severe attacks of neuralgia which caused him great pain and suffering. The pains were particularly about his eyes, and he often had to remain in bed. Ayer's Pills being recommended, he tried them, using one before each meal. They very soon afforded relief, followed by permanent cure. MYSTERY OF THE GREAT RUBY.

By LUCIE ST. DEANE.

(Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.)

Convinced the assassin and the thief and the man to tell a story of surprising interest.

I walked past my store, the establishment of Burling Bros., my companion striding into the place with the triumphant step of a schoolboy who has just won first prize. His cheeks had paled, and everything was in order. The ruby was still in the safe, and he brought it with his own hands and the proud question: "What do you say to that, Brown?"

"What could I say when the first glances showed me that it was not Nana Sahib's ruby?"

CHAPTER VIII.

I was too familiar with the appearance of the great ruby to mistake another for it, for I don't think it has a mate in existence. The gem shown by Burling was a magnificent specimen, but at no time was it more than two-thirds the size of the stone said to Sandhush.

My exclamation and astonishment were deep, but I veiled them under expressions of admiration of the stone, which I took from its box and held up to the light and fondled it as if loath to let it go.

"What do you intend to do with it, Burling?"

"It goes to Amsterdam by steamer this afternoon. Sorry to part with it, but business is business."

Burling was of a frugal turn, and there could be no doubt that he would make a handsome thing from his bargain. Such a stone would not wait long for a customer, and he would doubtless obtain three or four times as much as he paid.

I wonder whether the suspicious circumstances clinging to the gem could have been any spur to his haste.

"Here is a pair of the wheel," I referred to as I walked back to my store. "Mr. Howard was the owner of two rubies of unapproachable merit. Can it be that he has any more stored away in that traveling bag? Possibly he has a dozen and a score, and some of them may be bigger than any he has displayed as yet."

"Of course he managed to get possession of Nana Sahib's ruby. He is too cautious to offer it in New York. It will go to some Parisian dealer or some wealthy Englishman or German. Sandhush is not likely to see it again."

Burling called for me on his way home, and we rode up town together. He took occasion to tell me that the ruby had been sent that afternoon by American mail, and he felt that it was a great load had been lifted from his mind.

Human nature seldom confides. I am told that a large number of criminals were their punishment. It is to this, however, leads them to insure their fatal secrets to others.

I take to myself some credit that I never dropped a hint for days and weeks about Nana Sahib's ruby to any living person except George Sandhush, who also only in a few instances did I. I was on the point several times of telling my wife or Burling, and I fear that something of the kind would have been done but for the safety scrape in the form of my friend at the window. We frequently dined together, even after he went back to his home on the return of his family from abroad. When we were alone, there was only one theme of conversation, and we remained in the dark as much as ever.

It was easy to learn from inquiry at the Windsor that Mrs. Howard had left, but if any one knew whether she had gone such knowledge was not imparted to us. When I presented my card in the office of the Estate House, with the request that it be sent to the room of Mr. Howard (I could easily make a pretext for calling on him), I was told that he had been gone several days. I felt to looking for him on the street, but was not fortunate enough to see him.

When two weeks had passed without the slightest word from Carl Wittner, a new case of anxiety arose. Inquiry as to his home was answered that it was not known when he would return. Nothing had been heard from him for weeks. Ordinarily this would have been cause for alarm, but Wittner had taught his wife never to feel misgiving, even if she failed to get word from him for a much longer period. His situation was often such that it was ludicrous. For him to send anything through the mails.

"She may not be alarmed for her husband," remarked Sandhush, "but I am."

"Why?"

"These East Indians are as treacherous as the colts of their own country, and there is more subtle and more dangerous than this Howard."

My husband was subject to severe attacks of neuralgia which caused him great pain and suffering. The pains were particularly about his eyes, and he often had to remain in bed. Ayer's Pills being recommended, he tried them, using one before each meal. They very soon afforded relief, followed by permanent cure. Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

The writing of this "morceau" is proof that the grave tears were less, though I hope my wife will never allow the strain in which I was placed more than once during my absence.

From the moment I learned of the sale of the Nana Sahib's ruby to Mr. Brown I was morally certain that some great crime was behind the transaction, and I determined to follow it up, so far as I had the ability, before its startling disappearance could engage my attention.

My remark to Brown about the habit of rickshaws I trust had been misunderstood by the reader. No one can learn the particulars of a crime without immediately forming a theory or guess as to its motive, and the theory of rickshaws I trust had been misunderstood by the reader.

He hinted to me to make my examination as thorough as it could be made, and I did so.

Mr. Brown and Sandhush examined doors and windows and became satisfied that no person had entered or left the apartment since the morning of the robbery. The room was empty, but there were plenty of burglars in this great city of New York who can pass the side of a smooth brick wall as readily as you and I can climb an ordinary pair of stairs, but they can't do it without leaving signs behind.

There were absolutely no traces at or beneath the windows of his room, proof that they had not been employed as a means of exit or entry.

The hole of the door was found in its place, which of course could have been the fact had the robber left.

There were no traces in the room, but there were traces in the street. A very small man might have walked in and out through the window, but there were no traces in the street.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know? that Castoria is the most perfect of all medicines for infants and children. It is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle.

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupifying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Fitcher, that it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Fitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unknown rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The famous signature of Dr. S. Fitcher is on every wrapper.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1895.

VOLUME 59.

COUNTY NEWS

FROM ALL SECTIONS OF CALHOUN.

GATHERED BY THE REPUBLICAN'S ABLE CORPS OF CORRESPONDENTS.

DUKE.

The health of this community is very good, the weather is fine and the farmers are doing their best to catch up with their work.

We are glad to see people trying to raise more corn and stock.

Rev. H. R. Culbertson filled his appointment at this place Sunday.

Some of our boys who are attending the Stokes Bluff school came home last Friday.

A party of young folks went over to Cane Creek last Sunday after church.

We have a flourishing Sunday school here and hope to do much good.

Miss Lillie Prater, of Mack, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Willie Duke, last week.

Mr. Will Clark, deputy sheriff, was here last week, summoning some of our people to attend court. It is a pretty bad time for farmers to be leaving their crops. They will have to go all the same.

BERA.

Mr. Y. C. Southern died on the 15, inst.

There will be a grave yard working at Baulton on the second Saturday in May, and dinner will be served on the ground.

Mr. A. B. Heflon visited Bera on Tuesday.

Wm. Waddle and wife visited Mr. Waddle's father on last Sunday.

Esquire E. J. Haynie and Prof. Irwin Stallard went down to Ryann's on Saturday, to attend Justice court.

Rev. S. J. Robinette, of Francis, passed through town Monday.

Rev. Noah Stephens preaches at New Bethel the fourth Sabbath in each month.

PEEKS HILL.

The Sunday School Convention was held at this place on last Sunday. Judge Cartel, S. A. Russell and Wm. Dell of Anniston were present, and Mr. McPhillips, of Deaf 19, was also with us. The convention was well attended and the speeches of the visitors were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Cartel's talk on Sunday school work and the success we are meeting with was exceedingly instructive, and all who were present were impressed with the great necessity of more schools being organized, and more teachers entering the field.

The weather is fine and farmers are bending all their efforts to a thorough preparation of the soil.

Every body seems inspired with a new energy. Health of the community is good.

JENKINS.

The prospect for a fine crop of fruit of all kinds was never better, and strawberries will soon begin to appear.

Mrs. Emma Armstrong is convalescing from measles.

Leon Defreese, little son of R. P. Defreese, is also up after being sick several days.

There are quite a number of children, as well as some grown people, in our vicinity to have measles who have been exposed.

Another couple of our young people will be made one before this goes to print. May joy and prosperity be their future lot.

BRUNER.

The weather is fine, the health of the community is good, and the farmers are stirring things in a hurry.

Mrs. W. F. McCain and Mrs. O. N. Sims are visiting friends in Bruner this week.

Beat 14 will be well represented in court this term, as a number of our citizens have received summons.

We hope to see the rock crusher over in west Calhoun in the near future.

SCHENCKS SPRINGS.

Rev. W. O. Horton filled his appointment at Union church last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. G. Brothers were visitors at the springs last Sunday.

Remember the cleaning of the cemetery at Union church the first Saturday in May. Let all those who are interested attend.

Strawberries are blooming and putting on most charmingly. There will be a tremendous fruit crop of every variety if nothing happens.

I learn all the houses here have been rented for the summer, and if there are others who want houses they had better speak to the company so they may have them built.

MORRISVILLE.

The district union Sunday School held a meeting at Middleton last Saturday. The congregation was not as large as usual on such occasions, but a considerable amount of interest was manifested in Sunday School work. Addresses were made by Rev. S. C. Clifton, of Anniston, and Mr. Russell, of Oxford, which seemed to be highly appreciated by the audience. The next meeting will be held at Ragun's chapel sometime in next October.

There have been two deaths in this settlement during the last week. Mrs. Nancy Tankersley, a very old lady died last Tuesday, and Y. C. Southern, a young man, died with consumption last Monday.

Messrs. Ed Roberts, Wiley Johnston, and Homer Reid, visited Weavers Station last Sunday and explored the cave situated in that vicinity.

Mr. E. A. Womack, and family and Mr. H. W. Canada, all of central Egypt, visited their kindred and friends in Morrisville last Sunday. They brought good news from their country. Moses is making preparations for his departure to the promised land; the king has agreed to let them go, and Noah has completed his ark and will bring in his dove in a few days.

EDEN.

As we have never given the REPUBLICAN any idea of what Eden, the land of hills, fruits and flowers, is like, we wish to say that we are in the garden spot of the Grand Old State of St. Clair. We have here the most regular hills, symmetrical in form and outline, I have ever seen. Some of the covered with choice fruit trees which were, only a short time ago arrayed in their Spring suits blooming beauty, present a most imposing and attractive scene. Our beautiful groves remind one of Davenport's.

Our people are all busily engaged in farm work.

We had two interesting sermons preached to us by Rev. Joshua Warren, on Sunday.

Mr. Herron, representing E. E. Forbes of Anniston, has been with us for a few days.

Mr. Grey, one of Eden's best business men and citizens, is attending court at Ashville.

Mr. R. E. Smith, of the Southern, was in town Monday.

Our school holds up well. We have near fifty students, all doing good work.

The way of the transgressor is hard. Last week four revenue officers destroyed a still and about one thousand gallons of beer. One of the parties arrested made his escape.

DE ARMANNVILLE.

This week, if the weather permits, will wind up the cotton planting for this season.

A Sunday School has been organized at the Gip' Hudson place, with a membership near 60. There were one hundred present last Sunday. The school was organized by the well known "Veteran" S. S. worker, Mr. D. A. Long, and said to relate, Monday night, following the organization of the school, he was stricken with a chest and heart trouble, and for a few days his life was despaired of. He is still confined to his room, improving, but not out of danger, as he is some what advanced in years as well as of feeble frame. It is hoped that he may be spared to carry on the good work he had just begun.

The latest is a copy of "Coins Financial School". Not much need of it here for there is a number of men in this valley "posted" and know just how the government should be run.

The family of L. L. Allen will return from Florida in a few days. They write that beef steak in Ocala cost 25 cts per lb. Here it is 10 cts and where a neighbor kills beef here in the country they sell it out at 5 cts. Yet to hear people talk, this is hardest place to live in the world.

There has not been $500 of western meat sold by our merchants this year, not a gallon of foreign syrup. This shows how we can live at home as the story is "when we have to."

Ripe chickens will be late this season on account of lingering spring in the lap of winter.

The whortleberries so abundant in the mountains and hills are assured for this year. Last season they were frozen out.

WHITE PLAINS.

The cotton crop of this community is planted, and, as usual, we are counting on a good crop here and a failure everywhere else. Consequently we are looking for plenty of money next fall—silver money at that and we are not particular whether it is sixteen, twenty, or thirty to one.

We will soon organize the White Plains Medical Society. The four doctors belonging to it are to organize a rocket club and when a call comes while they are engaged in a game, the one who is fittest of foot is to have the patient.

Our two new doctors, Whiteside and Baker, have done good work since they came. Dr. Williams was on two crutches when they arrived but he immediately threw away one and promises to discharge the other pretty soon. Dr. Whiteside has cured a severe case of heart disease for himself as well as a number of patients in this community.

Among the visitors to this little health resort in the last few days we notice Mess. Ed and John Watson, of Birmingham, P. D. Watson of Anniston, and W. A. Scarbrough of Iron City.

While our cotton factory seems to be a thing in the future we will say that the gas works are working every day in the week.

Some of our people will go to court and some of them won't. If those who go can spare the money they ought to pay their subscription to the REPUBLICAN. [Amen.—Ed.]

If one of those entertainments can be given, those of which the junior citizens of this community have no doubt that a large number of our people would attend.

CHOCOLOCCO.

Farmers are about done planting cotton. There is very little reduction in acreage.

Rev. Merrill, of Media, filled the Pulpit of Rev. J. A. Jones at the Academy, last Sabbath.

Mr. James Morris and Rev. M. G. Milligan have both been quite sick, but are better now.

The Holloway boys, living on Jonathan Williams place, were arrested last week, in Anniston, on a charge of passing counterfeit money. One of them came clear, but the other was bound over to await the action of the United States grand jury, in a bond of $200.

Mr. John Hughes is building an old to his house.

S. N. Milligan, and daughter, went to Anniston to hear the lecture by Mr. Reynolds, the great Sunday school worker.

Sam Slim On Finance And Court House.

I read with much interest the communications from all sections of the county, which each week appear in the REPUBLICAN. So does ever one who has lived a long time and knows many people in almost every place in the county. I guess others like to see something from Oxford even if I write it, and it contains no great clause of news.

There are dead scores of money floating around in Oxford, silver, gold and greenbacks, but it ain't visible and can't be handled. Its in the air. It is talk, talk, talk. Gold basis, silver basis and party. This is all that can be heard. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

on the side walks, and street corners almost any day.

COINS FINANCIAL SCHOOL has just played the mischief with the gold bug part of our community. Like Cleveland, they want somebody to answer it but they cant. Mr. Cleveland cant and the whole of the gold-bug folks, in both the democratic and republican parties cannot do it. At least I guess they cant, for they dont.

Yet they say gone it has to be done or they are up totally. A silver plank in the next democratic platform is "what there is going to be. Bimetallism by international agreement is all well and good, but we are not waiting for Germany, England, France and Italy. We can go it alone, and live and do well. And if other countries require us to pay them in gold for what we purchase from them, why we will make them pay us in gold for what they buy from us, and "bein" as we have more to sell than to buy we will have all the gold we want and dead oodles of silver. Golly! won't we be in the swim!

Occasionally mention is made in the REPUBLICAN of court house removal. Occasionally there is some discussion in Oxford on this subject. But say, we need not worry about that election yet. Anniston "holds the key", we are informed. All recollect the fable of the old hawk that hatched her brood in the wheat field, and hurried the little fellows were when the farmer told his boys to go to the kinsfolk and neighbors and ask them to come and help reap the wheat, how the old bird told them to be quiet. But when the old man told John to get a couple of good cythes and reap the wheat then the old bird said to the brood, "It is time to get a move on us." Now you see Anniston has felt around among the kin and neighbors in the various parts of the county, and they have, by a big majority, begun to make excuse.

That is not encouraging. The harvest is great, but the laborers are few. Looking around upon the vacant houses, which, as a rule, do not produce voters, Anniston has about concluded that she cant reap the wheat alone and she wont use the key this fall. When you see Anniston on a boom, her dwellings all occupied, and others being built, and the sound of the hammer and saw is heard in the land, know ye that the time is nigh and the key is ready to be placed at the door.

MINUTES

Of the District Sunday School Convention.

The district Sunday school convention, composed of the Sunday schools of beats 6, 7, and 19, met, with Sunday schools at Peaks Hill.

First on the program was a devotional service, which was conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Wilson, after which G. M. Phillips president of the district, took charge of the meeting.

Joseph Cartel, of Anniston addressed the meeting of the Calhoun County Sunday School Association, explaining its organization, its aims and what it has already accomplished.

S. A. Russell gave an interesting talk on the Home Department.

Rev. Wilson spoke on Sunday school influence, when the convention adjourned for one hour and a half.

The afternoon session began at 2.15.

As the term of officers expired with this meeting the convention went into the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—G. M. Phillips, President; W. T. Duke, Secretary.

Speech by Wm Dell on Sunday school work.

Pres. G. M. Phillips then introduced for discussion, the subject: What shall we do to get interested Sunday school attendants to take part in the work? Discussion was opened by S. A. Russell, and followed by Wm Dell and G. M. Phillips.

Joseph Cartel made an able speech in behalf of the Sunday school.

Convention adjourned at 4.15.

Obituary.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Loyd, passed to her reward, April 3, 1895.

She was born in Spartanburg District, S. C., January 18, 1832. Professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist church March 9, 1850. Was baptized by Rev. D. Seruggs.

Moved to Alabama with her parents, Basil and Mary Calvert, in 1852. Was married to C. C. Loyd, December 1, 1853.

Though the summons came suddenly she was ready; having remarked a few days previously that she would soon sleep in the arms of Jesus.

A devoted husband and seven children survive her,—two having crossed over the river. Her Christian example is worthy of imitation.

Womens Edition.

On May the first, the women of Rome, will get out an edition of the Tribune for the benefit of the young mens Library Association.

The Tribune is one of Georgia's best dailies, and we are safe in saying that the Womens Edition will be one of the best ever issued. In the south, Mrs. Lou Underwood Howell is editor in chief, and Mrs. Jno. H. Reynolds, whom everyone in Jacksonville remembers as Miss Mary Turner, is business manager. Mrs. Reynolds is anxious to have a number of copies sent to Jacksonville. Those who desire copies should send in their order to the REPUBLICAN, or to Master Oscar Camp, by Monday morning.

SCROFULA, Salt rheum, and all diseases of the blood, dyspepsia, headache, kidney and liver complaints, catarrh, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

Hood's pills cure jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation and all liver ills.

If you want the news, subscribe for the Republican.

Recently Postmaster A. J. Little, of White Plains, resigned, and Dr. G. C. Williams has been appointed to fill the vacancy. We are glad to have one so thoroughly competent as Dr. Williams to fill the White Plains office.

DAVIS vs SCARBROUGH.

W. H. Davis sues W. A. & Eba Scarbrough for $10,000 Each.

One of the largest suits entered in the circuit court of Calhoun county for several years, is one filed recently by W. H. Davis against W. A. & Eba Scarbrough, in which Davis claims $10,000 damages against each of the defendants.

Davis in his bill alleges that the Scarbroughs charged that he burned his own store in Iron City for the purpose of defrauding the insurance companies with which he had insured both his store building and stock of goods.

Davis also alleges that in the contest for the appointment of a postmaster at Iron City, for which he was an applicant, that W. A. & Eba Scarbrough wrote Hon. Gaston Robbins and stated that it was the opinion of the people in the neighborhood that Davis burned his own store house, in which the post office was located, and that it would be against the interest of the Democratic party to have him re-appointed postmaster.

We know nothing of the merit of this case, and make the above mention of it simply as a matter of news.

Calhoun in Atlanta.

Steps are being taken to have Calhoun county represented at the Cotton States Exposition in Atlanta next fall.

At a meeting held in Anniston last Tuesday the following committee was appointed to solicit subscription necessary to make a creditable exhibit: J. J. Willet, John M. Caldwell, R. H. Cobb, Judge Emmett F. Creek, W. G. Ledbetter and Frank Nelson, Jr.

The Baptist Supper.

The Ladies Working Union, of the Baptist church, will give a supper for the purpose of collecting a fund to aid in the work of their society, at the armory, on next Tuesday evening, April 30. No pains will be spared to make the bill as attractive as it can be made. The decorations will be typical of spring and the mountains, woods, and flower gardens will be adorned with blossoms, vine and foliage, that the representation may be perfect.

The price of the whole supper will be 50 cts for all over twelve years of age, and 25 cts for children under twelve.

The ladies interested are requested to have a perfect host of good things, and they are trusting their friends for lending their presence, so that the whole affair will prove a success. They desire that it be understood that those who do not care to take the entire supper, will be served with food and cake at the usual price, 15 cts.

Rev. R. T. Liston.

Every man, woman and child in Jacksonville regrets the fact that Rev. R. T. Liston has resigned the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here and moved away.

He is not only a gentleman of culture and an able preacher, but is one of the most lovable men whom it has been our pleasure to know, and his friends in Jacksonville are equal in number to the population.

He has accepted the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in Oxford, and we assure the good people of that city that the more intimately they know him the more they will love him.

Cleveland's Manifesto.

"Coins Financial School," with its unanswerable arguments and conclusive deductions in support of bimetallism, seems to have spread consternation and dismay in the ranks of those organized apostates from orthodox democracy, who seek, in violation of all precedent, and regardless of all tradition, to recast and reform by time honored principles, so as to consign to financial oblivion the "Dollar of the daddies," and enshrine in its stead gold monometallism—the votary of aristocracy, the auxiliary of royalty, the viceroy of despotism, and the frowning symbol of popular oppression and universal poverty.

It has been amusing beyond measure, to contemplate the popgun policy of "fire-and-fall-back," of the army of subordinate office holders who esteem "pay" more highly than principle, and in selfish consecration, regard tenure of office and political preferment as more sacred than the welfare of the country and the prosperity of the people. Filling the Napoleonic measure of a good soldier, the people look upon them in scorn and derision, as "intelligent machines without will or judgement of their own," who render idolatrous homage, slavish submission and absolute obedience to the will of their creator, the president.

The gathering clans of bimetallism have become so strong and aggressive that not only the political services of postmasters have been called into requisition, but even their great captain and financial oracle, Mr. Cleveland, no longer poses as a careless and idle spectator of the irrepressible conflict he has provoked by tramping under his unlovely feet the platform of his party, abusing his trust and prostituting his exalted station, as the entrusted servant of the sovereign people who have honored him. With characteristic insincerity he at last tears away the mask of international bimetallism behind which he has been hiding before, and since the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, and with his coadjutors has been surreptitiously weaving a web with which to entrap and enslave seventy millions of American freemen to the impoverishing domination of a relentless monometallism.

With dictatorial assumption, he boldly declares himself the uncompromising opponent and aggressive enemy of free and unlimited coinage of silver, and prescribes, in this "manifesto of the free and home of the brave"—illusions throughout the civilized world, for freedom of thought and freedom of action—this tyranny on democracy, as a test of party fealty. He brands as dangerous to our grand destiny, the old and tried public office as a public enemy, and with a defiance born of despair, inconsistent with enriched patriotism, and degrading to the high office honored by Washington, Jackson, and the long and illustrious line of American Presidents, he shatters the old civil service reform which he has professed to reverence, assumes to abrogate with imperial authority the civil service rules, which he has professed to hold as sacred, and he calls out in a better sense, to the civil servants, to leave the old civil service restraint, and follow the single blast of alarm, and to active service against bimetallism, the recipients and beneficiaries of executive patronage whom he has for three two years or more been organizing for an unholy crusade against the constitutional rights of the people.

There are hard things to say of the chief executive of a great nation whom we would delight to respect and honor, but when a president who has been thus honored by his party, recklessly presumes to destroy that party by prescribing false articles of political faith, to which an overwhelming majority of his party cannot and will not subscribe, and to build upon its ruins a Cleveland party, composed of the monometallic fragments of both the old parties, is it not time to decline to recognize him as a party leader, and turn to the rank and file—the old guard of pure democracy—for the assertion of democratic doctrine and the triumph of democratic principles?

The poverty of the English language is too great to attempt to portray or exaggerate the spectacle of a president of these United States, and the should-be recognized leader of a great political party, using the patronage of his office as a bribe—call it reward if you will—to his appointees, to organize them selves in opposition to the free exercise by the people of their constitutional rights. Is it not in a word saying to his appointees, In bestowing upon you the offices, you hold which are the peoples, I have bought you at a price, and if you do not serve me in the destruction of silver, which down to 1793 was a primary money, and the unit of value, in the financial system of this country, you can step down and out?"

Such is not the character of democracy, transmitted to us by the fathers, and those who endorse it are but aiding and abetting in the inevitable destruction of our grand old party, and, with the repeated warnings and admonitions they have had against the insidious advances of this Trojan horse are shining against light and knowledge.

We are evidently in the throes of a mighty revolution, the money changers are in the temple, and old time democracy alone can save the country and bless and make happy the people.

Let democrats who love their country beware "the Greeks, bearing gifts."

It is now in order for all the men who hold office under Mr. Cleveland to howl for the gold standard. The order has, or will doubtless soon be, issued to all the post masters and other officials who draw government pay.

SENATOR PATMER, of Illinois, a follower of Mr. Cleveland gives it out that the president will not give any man even a post office appointment who favors the free coinage of silver.

We are glad the issue is to be drawn. Let the President turn on all the scroves he pleases. He cannot drive the old line Democrats to favor John Sherman's financial policy.

HERE is the hole the men who oppose the free coinage of silver are forced into: The Iriquois Club of Chicago, composed of bankers and business men, which before its meeting last Wednesday night was considered to be practically unanimous in favor of the gold standard, created quite a sensation when it was discovered that 22 out of the 70 present favored the free coinage of silver. The silver men forced the gold members to repudiate both the national and state Democratic platforms.

This was brought about by the silver men introducing for adoption the financial plank in national Democratic platform of 1892. This was voted down. Then the silver plank in the Illinois platform of 1894 was offered. This was also rejected.

This was a frank expression. The fight is now between bimetallism and the single gold standard. Let the lines be drawn up.

It is to be regretted that the party is to lose the leadership of such lifelong democrats as Morgan, Pugh, Pettus, Wheeler, Johnston and innumerable other of like character, besides 90 percent of the young men of the party that has fought and won its battles for twenty-old years. But such is the impending calamity, for hasn't it been given out that uncompromising opposition to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by the United States, independent of international agreement, is to be made the test of party fealty? and that "the president is thoroughly in earnest in the proposed crusade against free and unlimited coinage of silver; that he will leave no stone unturned to prevent the free silver sentiment from gaining headway, and crush it out if possible."

Immediate and unconditional surrender is the only thing that will save

AYER'S
THE ONLY
Sarsaparilla
ADMITTED
READ RULE XV.
"Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition."
Why was Ayer's Sarsaparilla admitted? Because it is a pure medicine, not a nostrum, not a secret preparation, not dangerous, not an experiment, and because it is all that a family medicine should be.

MYSTERY OF THE GREAT RUBY.

By LOUIE ST. DEANE.

(Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.)

The sound of rattling wheels, approaching from the front, had been in the possession of one family from a few years subsequent to the Revolution.

A man was walking back and forth on the porch, as if in deep meditation. The following day, however, the sound of his feet, by the door of which a glimpse could be obtained of the interior.

I stole from two to three, sheltered by the profound gloom in which I moved, until I was as close to the individual as it was possible to get without discovery.

"Who's my man?" was the thought which, urged me to the further verge of audacity. "I presume he is thinking about the great ruby."

Of course at that time I knew nothing of the great ruby which Mr. Howard had sold to Darling, the jeweler.

What was I to gain by watching the figure of this person as he was dimly seen when moving in front of the entrance which I had just passed?

I would have only to make him soliloquize and reveal the thought surging through his brain, whereby he would give me the very knowledge I was seeking. But unfortunately the detective in me was not so easily satisfied.

My man hummed the air of an opera, and now and then, when he removed his cigar from his mouth, I fancied once or twice that he was muttering to himself. But, though I could hear my man's voice, I did not catch a single word.

So long as matters remained as they were, I would never leave a white tiger.

Finally he halted in front of the nearest window and stood looking out in the gloom. His figure was nearly motionless, and he puffed rapidly for a minute or two and then flung it from him. It fell at his feet, and I noticed, however, that it was a light-colored one.

The individual's form as outlined before the window was that of a large and graceful man, just the size of Daniel Howard, and he wore the same kind of hat. The color of his little doubt that he was the same.

Suddenly he wheeled and entered the house, the door opening and closing so quickly that my view of him gave me no additional information.

I stood debating what step next to take, when I became aware that another party had arrived on the scene.

CHAPTER XI.
The new arrival was a dog of immense size. I first heard a low, thrumming growl, and then felt him sniffing at my heels. One of the first thoughts of a vagrant in approaching a house is whether he is likely to find a friend or a foe. The latter was the little doubt that he was the same.

A man was walking back and forth.

That some watcher was on the alert for suspicious visitors. No burglar could have been more guarded than I, and when I stood within a dozen yards of the door I was certain no living person had seen me.

The lady which I had followed to that point had no fence on either side, nor was there any surrounding the house, which, as I have stated, stood among a group of trees, some of which must have been 100 years old. The avenue ended among these, though the way was open along the side of the dwelling to the barn and other buildings at the rear.

Some of the facts which I give, it will be understood, were learned afterward. The house was a very old one, made of stone, with a broad piazza along the front, and had been in the possession of one family from a few years subsequent to the Revolution.

WE HAVEN'T LEFT A STONE UNTURNED.

We have ploughed the entire producing field. We have furrowed deep and wide. We have done everything within the bounds of possibility to lift still higher the Famous' excellence—already famous. We have had experience for a teacher. We have had the preference you have always shown for us stimulating to greater achievements. We have this one end and aim in view—to better the store, better the values, increase the variety and lower the prices; in short, offer more, ask less. As evidence, look at our SPRING SUITS. They are unbelittlable. They tell of their greater goodness at a glance.

DURANT, Miss, Dec. 12, 1890. OFFICE OF J. B. ROSAMOND, Savannah, Ga.

GENTLEMEN—While in San Antonio, Texas last spring I saw your advertisement of P. P. P. in the paper for the cure of rheumatism, and thought I would try a bottle, finding such great relief from it, on my return home I had my druggist, Mr. John McGuffee, to order me a supply. After taking I think ten bottles, I have not had a pain or ache since, previous to that I suffered for twenty-five (25) years, and could not get the least benefit until I tried P. P. P., and therefore, take pleasure in recommending it to all. Yours truly, J. B. ROSAMOND.

Alfred and Alf.

Among the illustrious names that are graven on the pages of English History, there is not one that shines with a brighter lustre, than that of Alfred the Great.

the man who came to the aid of his people in times of sore distress, and saved them from the yoke of their oppressors. Since the days of the great there has been a kind of magic in the name. In these latter days it is sometimes called for short, but the magic remains all the same.

Now I'll show you that there is something in a name, and a great deal in the name ALFRED or ALF. Alfred the Great and

ALF TRUITT

—a veritable pair "to draw to." Both friends of the people. If Alfred the Great had lived in the time of Alf Truitt, he would have been in the

just as Truitt is, and would have been an earnest advocate of the use of improved machinery. Alfred would have done just as Alf did when he bought these

Five Car Loads

of late model harrows a few weeks ago, and he would have been perfectly willing to have let the people have them at a low price, and would have accepted payment in corn in the Fall of the year. That is just what ALF is doing. Selling these harrows, the implement for preparing the soil, this great on time, and waiting for it to pay for itself in the increased production.

Alf also believes in a judicious use of fertilizer, and has three car loads on hand which he will sell cheap.

Alf believes in the old adage, "like produces like," and therefore desires to sell every farmer in the county a few of Geo. T. Truitt's premium profit cotton seed.

Who else does business on such a liberal plan? Nobody but

and if you fail to go to see him when you go to Anniston, you might as well not go.
